Primary/Secondary Positions:

Each player is required to declare one primary position. You may also list one secondary position if you play one.

If you list pitcher as your primary position, here is what to expect at this event:

- Pitch 1-2 innings
- Take Batting Practice
- Run the 60-Yard Dash
- You will not take part in the Defensive Workout since it's important to save your arm for pitching in the game

If you list a primary position other than pitching, you will:

- Take Batting Practice
- Run the 60-Yard Dash
- Take part in the Defensive Workout at your primary position only
- Receive a fair and equitable amount of defensive time during the game at your primary position and play your secondary position as needed.
- If you list pitcher as your secondary position, you will get to pitch at least one inning, or to a minimum of four batters during the game.

What happens if I am a two-way player?

- Our best advice is to come as a primary position player/secondary pitcher. That way you will get to do some of both in the game. Please be realistic in your assessment. A good way to do this is to list the spot you think you will play in college as your primary position.
